We knew nothing more than this at that time. Having derived our informatoin from head quarters, we are able to say now that the road is under contract from Morristown to Cumberland Gap: That the people in the three counties though which it passes will be asked to subscribe liberally to its capital stock, to be paid, however, only when the road is graded. That if the people respond as liberally as they are well able to do, the road will be built as rapidly as plenty of money will build it.
